

CROQUET

MALLET MATES: Croquet club captains, from the left, Dave Farrow (Dundonald), Malcolm Smith (Auchincruive) and Robin Archibald (Loans).

A PAIR of Dundonald croquet-ers are the first to have their names engraved on the new All Ayrshire Cup.

The inaugural competition, which took the form of a golf croquet doubles sudden-death, was hosted by the Dundonald club.

Loans were the first victim failing to make it through the quarter finals.

Auchincruive fought bravely on to the semi-finals before being ejected.

Dundonald pairs of Ian McKee and Mat Sully and Steven Easton and Ronnie Zorget were left to fight it out in the final.

A heavy shower forced the finalists to adapt their playing style as sitting rainwater exerted a drag on each stroke.

Three points clear and facing the final hoop, Zorget strategically removed McKee's ball to leave Easton clear to smash home victory four points to one.

The next competition at Dundonald CC is the Co-operative Funeralcare Ashes tournament on Saturday, June 5.

TOP TWO: All Ayrshire Cup winners Steven Easton and Ronnie Zorget, of Dundonald CC.
